

The Utter Omnipotent News-sheet No. 2John Peel On Radio Luxembourg

This is a vitally important and urgent notice to all Perfumed Gardeners. Radio Luxembourg is planning to radically change its format and introduce new DJs. These will have marathon shows instead of the present short ones. This, of course, has earth-shattering implications in that all John Peel's supporters have got the chance to write to Geoffrey Everitt, C/O Radio Luxembourg, London, W1, demanding that John has a regular spot. If everyone is faithful to the Perfumed Garden and writes we may well see the return of the Garden to radio. John himself is most anxious that we should do this.

Non-Societies

A Tim Hardin Fan Club has been started by Denny Halloran of Streatham. There is a subscription rate of 2/6 a year and interested parties should write to her (address on first list) for further details.

All enquiries concerning the Intergalactic Fish Fan Club should be sent to Gloria Allard, PO Box 2233, Berkeley, California, USA.

Michael Tunstall (of original list fame) is eager to organise a Bob Dylan Appreciation Society. He would welcome your letters and enquiries.

The Jefferson Airplane Fan Club run by Vicky St. Clar is at 130 Delmar, San Francisco, California, USA

The Grateful Dead Fan Club have their rather cramped office at PO Box 31201, San Francisco, California, USA.

Zap your friends and join the Official Beatles Fan Club. Write to Freda Kelly, The Official Beatles Fan Club, PO Box 12, Liverpool 1. Tel: 051-709 2410.

The Paper Blitz Tissue can be contacted for booking at 35 South Audlet Street, London W1.

Cold Feet In Mid-Winter Items

Salajan and Lamm, who work for War Resisters International, need used stamps to help the society. So PLEASE send ALL your used stamps (cut off the envelope with about $\frac{1}{4}$ " all round) to W.R.I., Lansbury House, 88 Park Avenue, Enfield, Middx.

Monni Aldous is writing a book about the Perfumed Garden and would like as many people as possible to write to her telling of your feelings during the last PG and where you listened, OR, if you missed the last programme, why and a short piece to describe the AGONY of it.

Claire Winston, poet extraordinary, would like you to send her your poems (three copies of each if possible) superbly typed or printed, and clearly numbered where necessary, for inclusion in a book of works by people from the Perfumed Garden, which eventually is hoped to be published. So get up immediately and rummage through all that stuff you wrote during the PG and send all cosmological and joyous poems to her as soon as possible. Her telephone number is 01-458 3681.

The mind and body of Patrick Sullivan will slowly disintegrate if someone somewhere doesn't ask him to paint, draw, sketch, mould, sculpt, carve, or cut out anything anywhere.

For information on Scientology you can write to Alan Douglas at International House, Oxted, Surrey.

John, Raymond, Soosan, and Jackie are making their second film which is to be called Onion Legs. It's an adventure in wild, weird, unscripted, chaotic, nebulous frivolity and is being shot in or on various parks, loos, bushes, and statues in England.

we will be and when.

Wanted Desperately Section

We want a big cosy house or a big uneasy house that can be transformed to hold our exhibition in. Already we have collected many interesting items, including the blow-up, impervious, plastic frog, for exhibiting but we are severely (nay, entirely) hampered in our project through lack of a place to go. Will somebody please help? A letter addressed to Soosan will save the scheme, the day, the night, and us.

Please keep sending your artworks to The Soohouse. If you don't want to send anything just yet but would like it exhibited then tell Soosan what it is and its approximate size. Thank you.

Jackie Petherbridge has for sale a hundred or so thoroughly nauseating, most gruesome posters depicting hollow fear yet complete and utter One-ness. Alastair Crowley would have bought one. To you 6/-. All money received goes to the Swiss poet Urban Gwerder to help him out of legal difficulties with the printers of the above-mentioned items.

Green Shield Stamps are being collected at 46 Arthur Road to be given to old people's homes. If you have any spares or loose 'ns please send them to Soobaby.

Needed urgently for the senseout workshop are electricians, labourers, dramatists, poets, musicians, environmentalists, light artists, people with smells, feelers, heads, and money. The whole thing is open. It's YOUR place. Contact co-ordinators via:- ICYB, Peter Jones arch 2, 111 High Street, Old Portsmouth, Hants.

Impressive Records

The following records are available at One Stop Records, 40 South Moulton Street, London, W1 and Chris Wollard Records, 6 Lewisham Way, New Cross, London SE14.

Although the new Donovan double album (in a box with the words of the songs written on separate coloured sheets) is £5.5.0. it holds music and words of such immeasurable beauty and innocence that it cannot be talked of in monetary terms.

The new Love LP is out NOW. Once again Elektra have brought us joy by issuing yet another superb record.

As yet RCA Victor have not released in Britain the beautiful Jefferson Airplane LP "After Bathing At Baxter's". (Possible bombardment needed here?) The record is filled with long, meaty tracks to envelope you and calm you. The playing time is 43 minutes and is superb value for money. LBJ has not listened to the words.

Have you got the current LP by Eric Burdon and the Animals "Winds of Change"? NO? Then go to jail. Go directly to jail. Do not pass go. Do not collect £222. If you get the chance please see Eric Burdon live and you will be surprised, delighted, and transported.

Also keep watchful eyes and ears on LPs by Ritchie Havens, Taj Mahal, Roy Harper, Mamas and Papas (The End of an Era), Al Stewart, Mimi and Richard Farina, John Fahey, Captain Beefheart (issued in mono only - why, Pye?), and the Fleetwood Mac. Don't think we've forgotten Bob Dylan's John Wesley Harding LP. It's good isn't it? The book "Bob Dylan" by Daniel Kramer is at last available in this country. It contains hundreds of lovely photographs and you can get a copy from Better Books, 94 Charing Cross Road, price 27/6.

John's Bit

It has taken me four weeks to find time to write this. I'm sorry if you've written/phoned and I have been hasty or inconsiderate.
Monni has understood this and I hope you will. When the Perfumed Garden flourished there was unlimited time for writing. I slept for five hours, prepared for the Garden for an hour, loved with you for two hours and wrote most of the rest of the time.

Nowadays things are different. After all, I'm no more/no less important than anyone or anything else on earth but many people don't understand this and make demands on my freedom and expect things of me that they would not expect of you.

Be patient, the Summer is coming into our eyes again and it will bring with it many magicks. It is good that Soosan, Jackie Tony and John have taken the seeds falling from our flowers and have planted them and have nurtured these lists. They have done much more than me and they deserve your help and love for the joy they have brought into many lives.

Look around you, there is so much good but, at the same time, so much opportunity for good. This Summer let your love and understanding carry you into the sad places and flood them with light.

Many ex-pirate people are caught up in the misery of trying

Now soldiers resist war

The first ever anti-war demonstration on an American military base by military personnel took place last week on Tuesday, February 13, at Fort Jackson, South Carolina—the base already famous since the court-martial of Captain Howard Levy last year for opposing the Vietnam war.

This time 25 soldiers stuck their necks out by going along to the demonstration, which was to take the form of an hour of silent meditation, in witness to "doubts about the war in Vietnam".

After initially giving permission for the Fort Jackson Protestant Chapel to be made available for "meditation", the Army authorities changed their minds, presumably as soon as they realised what the group were planning to meditate about.

The upshot was that a number of those who had turned up knelt down to pray anyway. MPs hustled them away, arrested five, and dispersed the rest. Court-martial proceedings are to be taken against two Privates, Robert Tater of New Hampshire and Steven Kline of New Jersey.

Plans for the demonstration began several weeks ago among soldiers meeting in an off-base coffee bar. They decided not to disobey Army rules, but to find a way of bearing silent witness to their doubts about the Vietnam war.

Leaflets announcing the meditate-in were distributed the previous weekend to fellow-soldiers. "Is God on our Side? We are soldiers who—like millions of other Americans—have doubts about the war in Vietnam. It's time we made these doubts known" was the text of the leaflet.

Two of the soldiers who knelt in defiance of the army at Fort Jackson last week at the first anti-war demo on a US base—by the military themselves.

On the Monday Martin Blumsack, who originally got permission to use the chapel, was called into the Chaplain's office and told that it was revoked. The reason given: the leaflets used the word "doubts" instead of "grave concern". He was then sent to the office of Lt Col Chester Davis, who handled the Levy case last year, and warned to cancel the demonstration. "Unless you want to end up like Captain Levy you'd better keep your nose clean".

Press representatives were informed by the Army that no demonstration would be taking place. The gullible New York Times cancelled its plans to cover it, while the even more gullible United Press International sent out a story saying that no anti-war group existed at the base.

At zero hour, Blumsack dutifully recited: "I am officially instructed to tell you that there will be no meeting tonight." As each soldier knelt on the steps of the locked chapel, a group of MPs carried him off.

A further demonstration on the same lines was planned for Tuesday this week. (No news had reached us as we went to press.) In the meantime students at the nearby University of South Carolina have been helping out, distributing leaflets in support.

The demonstrators hope that their action may spark off a nation-wide anti-war movement within the armed forces. They are optimistic that the court-martial charges will not stand up, even in a military court.

Cracks in the system: a soldier writes

Dear Editors: I would like to congratulate you on your excellent front-page article ("Now Soldiers Resist War", February 23) on the anti-war protest at Fort Jackson, South Carolina. I am the soldier on the left of the photo you used, taken on the night of February 13 in front of the Chapel.

Though we did not start our meditation as a protest, the Army quickly blundered and turned it into one. The system isn't really that coordinated. As you say, cracks are starting to show.

Because of public pressure, and the appearance of the American Civil Liberties Union headed by Mr Chuck Morgan, the Army was forced to drop the charges against the two men—myself and Robert Tater—whom they had finally decided to court-martial. So phase one is over. But I personally am not satisfied. That Chapel is still closed to us, and the war is not yet over, or even slowing down. It must. Peace!

OXFAM - FOOD FOR TOMORROW

As you may remember during the period of Christmas 1966 Radio London gave a lot of precious time publicising, and encouraging people to give to other people something which they probably had plenty of - FOOD. Money was raised (a lot) to buy and help grow food for people who live in poverty, distress and suffering - something which our kind will never ever experience (we hope not, anyway). We are very fortunate, we have everything we need, we have no fear of suffering from starvation.

If there's anyone who isn't sure of the work undertaken by Oxfam the enclosed leaflet will answer all the queries. It would be good if we, the people of the Perfumed Garden, headed Radio London's and Oxfam's plea. How about US working on a project to pay the salary of a volunteer to work in Mexico? Or raise the money to help dig a well in Upper Volta - the poorest country in the world? £55 from Oxfam can make a village self-supporting and secure from drought. These are only two of hundreds of examples of projects being undertaken by Oxfam. The ways to raise funds are inexhaustable.

Where there's a group of P.G. people living reasonably close together, as in Essex and South East London, why not get together and discuss ideas?

If you would like further leaflets please please write to me, John C. Burr, 76, Bromley Hill, Bromley, Kent. Tel: 460 2023, and I'll be happy to send them. Please try and help! We could, through the Perfumed Garden, achieve so much.
